As a Software Engineer (f/m/d) at Ubisoft Düsseldorf, your main goal is to develop and refine new and existing solutions to ensure a fair gaming environment across Ubisoft's collection of multiplayer titles. While focusing on creating scalable, high-performance software, you'll also have an opportunity to dive into the domain of anti-cheat technologies.

What you will do:

- Join a cross-functional team of skilled engineers under seasoned leadership.
- Develop high-performance software using C# ASP.NET and C++ to enhance the gaming experience for millions of players.
- Collaborate closely with other teams to meet the challenges head-on.
- Work alongside game production teams to maintain the quality of our service.
- Offer insights and recommendations to further the project goals.

We're looking for experienced software engineers interested in tackling game security challenges!

What you bring:

- Proficiency in C# ASP.NET, C++, with expertise in at least one of these.
- Experience with Windows Internals.
- Background in game or engine development is a plus.
- Excellent communication skills in both verbal and written English.
- A collaborative mindset and a proactive attitude towards achieving project objectives.

Bonus skills and experience

- Familiarity with Windows Driver development.
- Understanding of the common challenges associated with multiplayer/online games.
- Experience with Docker Containers & Kubernetes framework.
- Know-how in monitoring the health of SaaS offerings and site reliability engineering.
- Ability to work effectively in a distributed team across different time zones.

What to send our way:

- Your CV, highlighting your education, experience, and skills.
- A cover letter including your earliest starting date, expected salary and your motivation to join us.
